

A glowing mushroom with a light-colored, conical cap and a thin stem, standing in a dark forest. The background is filled with soft, out-of-focus light spots, likely fireflies, creating a magical atmosphere. The mushroom is the central focus, with its stem extending downwards. The overall scene is dimly lit, with the primary light source being the mushroom and the ambient firefly lights.

Miskien is ons almal vuurvliegies op soek na die lig, sonder om te besef dat die lig wat ons só hartstogtelik nastrewe eintlik binne onself is.

- Skilder met digkuns